Art That Messes With Us Awaits Gender

By Emily Scott in April 18

Gender RIOT! The Furies, or the four days walking, travel, and working during the Boulder Periscope festival in Boulder, Colorado, Boulder Periscope is an event that brings artists, scientists, and activists together to create and share ideas and experiences. The festival features a range of events, from performances to workshops to exhibitions, all focused on exploring the intersection of art and activism. This year, the festival took place in Boulder, Colorado, from April 14 to 17, and included a performance by the Furies, a group of artists who use their work to challenge traditional gender roles and expectations.
